Some companies have several facilities needing corrective action; not all the facilities have met both corrective action EIs. EPA applauds the companies that have taken a pledge to ensure people are safe and the environment is protected. These companies pledge to meet EPA's environmental indicators for human health and ground water at all of their RCRA Corrective Action facilities on the Government Performance and Reviews Act (GPRA) Baseline by the end of 2005. EPA welcomes the opportunity to work with these companies with the States to achieve our environmental goals.
